

BOXING/MMA

Like baseball and hockey, the money line is used to display the odds of winning in boxing and MMA.

The minus (-) on the wagering sheets and display boards indicates the favorite. The plus (+) indicates the underdog.

EXAMPLE:

TIME	BET#	FIGHTER	TOTAL
9:00 PM	2001	Manny Pacquiao	+ 130
	2002	Floyd Mayweather	- 150

In this example, Floyd Mayweather is favored, and the player must lay $150 to win $100 or $15 to win $10. The player would wager $100 to win $130 or $10 to win $13 on Manny Pacquiao. In the event of a draw, wagers on who will win the fight are refunded.

ROUNDS PROPOSITION

On some fights, players have the option of betting whether the fight will go a specified distance.

EXAMPLE:

TIME	BET#	ROUNDS	ODDS
9:00 PM	2051	Over 11.5	+ 140
	2052	Under 11.5	- 160

In this example, the player would wager $100 to win $140 or $160 to win $100 that the duration of the fight will last 12 full rounds. In rounds propositions, it does not matter which fighter wins.

For major fights, a broad range of wagers and proposition may be offered, such as how a fighter will win (KO or decision), round propositions and odds on picking the round in which the fight will end.
